Make some fun bee fingerprint art!

We're buzzing into Spring!

Spring is here, and the bees are getting busy! Did you know bees help flowers grow? Let's make our own buzzy bee using fingerprints!

You will need:

- Yellow paint
- Black felt-tip pen
- White paper or light-coloured card
- Paintbrush (optional)
- Wet wipes or water for cleaning hands

Did You Know?

Bees are pollinators. That means they help flowers grow by moving pollen from one flower to another.

Without bees, we wouldn't have:
Apples 🍎
Strawberries 🍓
Cucumbers 🥒
Even chocolate! 🍫

Bees are super important to our planet!

What to do:

1. Make the bee's body. Dip your finger into yellow paint. Press it firmly onto the paper to make a fingerprint. Leave space for more bees if you want a whole swarm! Let it dry.
2. Add stripes. Use a black pen to draw 2–3 stripes across your fingerprint.
3. Draw the wings. Add two small white or outlined wings at the top. You can make them round, heart-shaped, or sparkly!
4. Add details. Draw: Two tiny antennae, a smiley face, and a dotted flying trail behind your bee!

Make It Extra Fun!

Try:

- Creating a whole garden scene
- Adding fingerprint flowers
