Paint a butterfly

What you'll need!

- Paint brushes
- Water-based paint
- Sugar paper (any colour you like!)
- Marker pen

How to paint your butterfly

1. Fold your sugar paper in half and then open it back up
2. On one half of the paper, paint some cool butterfly wings! Fold the paper again, pressing down so that the paint transfers to the other side
3. Open the paper back up, and add some patterns to your butterfly wings - you can paint these on either side. Fold the paper and press down again to print both sides!
4. Once you've finished all the fun designs you want on your butterfly, let the paint dry. Once it's dry, you can add a face, body, and some antennae in the middle of the page, from which the wings extend out

How many more funky pieces of art can you make? Why not try a different insect, like a ladybird? It's time to get creative!

nc newton clarke veterinary surgeons